This pack is designed to be usable with the Leadwerks Game Engine. To begin, to create your own maps, you will need an earlier version of Leadwerks called Leadwerks 8 or Leadwerks 9. To play a pre-existing Leadwerks file, you will need the "Version 3.1 of Leadwerks or higher." To make use of the undead mob content, you will need the Leadwerks AI script by default. The Leadwerks 8 or Leadwerks 9 is required to play Leadwerks files created with the free version of the Leadwerks Game Engine. To play Leadwerks files created with the "Regular" version, either your computer must be on the same network and connected to the internet or you must purchase the optional "Leadwerks extension" which will display the models on top of your existing project and a list of all of your Leadwerks models. What's New in Leadwerks: Version 3.1. This is the current version of the Leadwerks Game Engine and contains many new features. It's backwards compatible with older versions of Leadwerks if you are already using it. To update to the latest version, simply click on the "Workshop > Update System" menu. New in the Leadwerks Game Engine: A major change with the new version of Leadwerks is the incorporation of the FreeScreenPlayer (FSRP) and default Leadwerks AI scripts (written by Weihenmayer). Both of these scripts will be very easy to use and will help you create your own believable and dynamic characters. To start, the FSRP scripts allow you to drop in a player into your map and have him walk around. You can change his interaction with the world in the scripts. To learn more about these scripts, see the demos available with the Demo Content by default with the Leadwerks Game Engine. The AI script will help you create better AI (artificial intelligence). To learn more about the AI scripts, see the demos included with the AI demo pack by default with the Leadwerks Game Engine. All information is included in the documentation associated with the scripts. If you prefer a manual, step-by-step approach to learning how to create great characters with Leadwerks, then the documentation is also available. Please note that the FSRP scripts are included with your default Leadwerks files upon creation.

How to Play: You must use the pre-selected starting factions and starting locations for this content. The Most Important Settings: HistoricalPercentage A value from 0 to 100, which indicates the percentage of the game's events that will involve historically accurate descriptions and advice. Author's InsightsA Note on Spells When it comes to spells in the Forgotten Realms campaign, there is so much lore to cover that I cannot even begin to cover it all. Therefore, I am going to be selective, focusing on the spells that are vital to the plot. I will be presenting the spells in the order that they are used throughout the campaign. Word of Prayer and Measure The most commonly used spell in the campaign is Word of Prayer. As a cleric, the spell conjures forth words from the Divine. The words are written on a piece of parchment, which is then held up to the Divine. The Divine then holds it before him or her and issues a prayer. It is best to select a prayer that will benefit the player characters or the group as a whole. Protect The roll It is important to keep in mind the specific prayer that the Divine is asking for, as well as the prayers that they will respond to. Dagger Toss The Divine throws the daggers at the group The Divine's prayer specifically calls for the protection of the party members and they receive their appropriate protections. Dagger of the Divine The Divine's prayer specifies a specific dagger This dagger specifically protects the Divine, as the character was one of her companions. Dagger of Amn The Divine's prayer specifies a specific dagger This dagger benefits the Divine, as the character was one of her companions. Prayer of Bounty The Divine prays for blessings from the Divine Power, the Blessing of Bounties. The prayer specifies the Blessings and the character or group of characters to which they are granted. Blessing of Bounties The Divine prays for Blessings, the Blessings of Bounties. The prayer specifies the Blessings and the character or group of characters to which they are granted. Blessing of Bounties The Divine prays for Blessings, the Blessings of Bounties. The prayer specifies the Blessings and the character or group of characters to which they are granted. Anamnesia The Divine removes all traces of a memory that the characters may have. It is not a specific prayer, as it is up to the Divine to determine that the characters should or should not remember what they did. Mage Hand The Divine

Hi, i've read in every forum that noone managed to print this. I downloaded it, the printer works fine, I did everything i should... everything. Then I print it following this tutorial I send it via the model server, the model is finally available via the cfg file from the infraestructure, but unfortunetaly it won't print, what is going on?? I did all I should. Cristian I printed that tower that you posted, and it's starts to peel away from the walls, with that normal problem of the build plate. what i can say is that my printer build plate is too strong for that tower. But the build plate can be adjusted using the build plate height slider. In the build plate settings. In the tower panel. Instead of automatically optimizing the build plate height, use the build plate height slider. This will result in a taller tower, but in a more flexible tower that will be more stable during printing. Try adjusting the height of the build plate in the tower settings, and if that doesn't work, contact me on the 3D pro development channel. I hope you can get to the bottom of this issue. Hi Polnyy, It really seems that the flex, already at 720 of flex and increasing to 900, is too strong for this case. Because to raise the height of the tower above the limitation at 5.5 mm seems to be not enough strength to control this problem. I always printed this segment, it isn't the first time that happens. The height of every tower (excluding this one) always fit perfectly, even that one, the height that the printer allow is 5,5 mm. If you read my previous posts, I asked for help somewhere else as I tried to make it work from that very moment. Nothing will happen with Prusa i3 Pro as I did not had time to do everything. - I live in a country with a "Paraguay-like" infrastructure. That is, very low population density and very few printers (So really low resolution). This is why some printing profiles were optimized in Uruguay (or even, South America) depending on the type of part and the demand
