Technical Field The present disclosure relates to a method for fabricating a light emitting diode (LED) package, and the LED package structure, in particular, to a method for fabricating a waterproof LED package structure and the waterproof LED package structure. 2. Description of Related Art LED chips are a kind of semiconductor device. LEDs have been widely used as light sources for illumination applications due to their high power efficiency, long operation life and resistance to mechanical shock. With respect to the design of an LED package structure, the LED package structure can be divided into a surface-mount LED package structure, a plug-type LED package structure, a ceramic LED package structure, and the like. As shown in FIG. 3, a conventional waterproof LED package structure includes a LED chip 91, a package body 90, and a waterproof cover 92. The package body 90 has a cavity 910, and the waterproof cover 92 is used to protect the LED chip 91. A sealing member 93 seals the LED chip 91 within the cavity 910. The package body 90, the LED chip 91 and the waterproof cover 92 are mounted on an upper face of a carrier 94. The carrier 94 is fixed on a circuit board 97. Moreover, the waterproof cover 92 has a solder hole 921, and the waterproof cover 92 is mounted on a substrate 95 and then reflowed. However, after the waterproof cover 92 is mounted on the substrate 95, the waterproof cover 92 may be susceptible to some small movement. As a result, water may get into the package body 90 through the sealing member 93 and the solder hole 921, and the waterproof cover 92 may be damaged due to high temperature. Therefore, how to prevent the water from getting into the package body is an important issue in the field of LED technology.

Q: How to get response on PHP script, then send it to an email I want to get a response after the executing the php script and then send it to an email address in PHP. How can this be done?
